

HAVE FUN CAMPING

Camping is a fun and exciting way to spend time in nature. However, it's important to follow certain rules to ensure the safety of yourself, others, and the environment around you.

LEAVE NO TRACE

The most crucial rule for camping in nature is to clean up after yourself, leave the campsite as you found it, dispose of waste properly, and extinguish campfires.

RESPECT WILDLIFE

When camping, it's important to respect wildlife by not feeding or approaching them and storing food properly to avoid attracting animals to your campsite.

RESPECT QUIET HOURS

Many campgrounds have quiet hours during which loud noises and music are not allowed. Respect these hours to ensure that everyone can enjoy a peaceful camping experience.

FOLLOW FIRE REGULATIONS

Always check the fire regulations for the area where you are camping. Follow the rules closely and be sure to properly extinguish your fire before leaving your campsite.
